Natural Slates

*Guillotine Cut:

For the slate connoisseur wanting a hand crafted look with old world charm, nothing surpasses the beauty of a guillotine cut floor. Also the preferred choice for roofing slate to achieve a true fully textured look. Please inquire about available colors.

*Machine Cut:

Our most common slate & quartzite production consists of the traditional machine cut edge. Output is available in all shapes & sizes. Spark Stone will cut squares, rectangles, triangles or any shape you require. The finished forms consist of; 1) natural cleft both sides varying in thickness; 2) natural cleft topside with ground back bottom side varying in thickness; and 3) natural cleft topside with ground back bottom side gouged to an even thickness.

*Tumbled:

Another favorite look. Weathered, hand-rubbed and natural are some of the words used to describe this wonderful addition to the world of natural stone. An extremely popular choice in today's circle of designers. Available in all colors.

*Mushroom Cladding:

The hand chiseled, hand crafted, raised ashlar pattern is back. Now described as mushroom cladding. Used primarily for exterior home or building wall cladding (facing). Sizes can vary according to customer's specification. Please inquire about available colors.

Please take into consideration that these photographs are approximations of the final product. Actual product samples should be used for precision. All products are hand-made. Colors as well as physical characteristics will vary from piece to piece and shipment to shipment. Please consult with your local distributor for additional physical characteristics information.

Natural slates are used for residential and commercial building applications as well as in exterior landscaping projects.

Please note we stock only irregular flagging and machine cuts in 12x12 sizes. All other cuts are special order only.
